

AMD's Go Green Commuter Program

Winner of the 2008 Take-On-Traffic Award for Large Employers in Austin

AMD's Go Green commuter benefits program is an important part of AMD's drive towards excellence in corporate environmental performance. The Go Green Program provides benefits for AMDers across North America. A centralized Program Manager works with various Site Administrators to deliver commuter benefits with consistency and customization. Once or twice a year promotional events are held at major locations, and the entire company gets behind promoting Commute Solutions Month during September.

Each month the Go Green team tracks the critical performance metrics provided by an online software program – AMD GreenRide™. From August 2007 to September 2008, Go Green has avoided over 1 million miles of driving.
